

LEONARD L. BACON

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Background
Youth in New York
Yale and Harvard Law
Role in D-Day invasion
Entrance into the Foreign Service
Bern/Zurich	1946-1947
Safe Haven program
Nuremburg trials
Initial impressions of the Foreign Service
Hankow, China	1947-1948
Consul
Nature of post
Postwar China
Relations with Chang Kai-shek
Support for the Kuomintang
Impressions of Communists
Nanking	1948-1950
Head of Consular Section
Impressions of embassy
Leighton Stuart as ambassador
Impression of crisis situation in China
U.S. policy during revolutionary period
Embassy dealings with new Communist officials
Personal negotiations with Communists
Exit from China
Reception in Washington
Strasbourg	1950-1954
Consul
Negotiations over control of the Saar
U.S. support of French position
Vientiane	1957-1959
DCM
Situation in Vientiane in late 1950s
Communist presence in Laos
U.S. reaction to Communist movement
Guidance from Washington

Role of the CIA

Northeast Asian Affairs

1959-1964

Deputy Director

Korean Situation

U.S. view of Korea

Japan as major concern

Greatest Career satisfaction