

GEORGE BALL

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Early Contact with Lyndon Johnson

Under Secretary of State - Kennedy years 1961-1963
 With Johnson as Under Secretary of State
 Difficult to work with Little involvement in Vietnam issue
 Diem ousted
 President Kennedy involvement
 Roger Hilsman fired

Under Secretary of State - Johnson years 1963-1966
 President Kennedy assassinated
 Johnson becomes President
 Preparing for Kennedy funeral
 President Johnson's attitude toward Kennedy team
 Johnson-Congress relations
 Vietnam preoccupation
 Ball memo re Vietnam "unwinnable"
 Joe Alsop leak
 President Johnson's reaction to memo
 McNamara-Ball differences on ending war
 Gulf of Tonkin resolution
 Mac Bundy
 Fulbright-Tonkin Resolution
 Ten-Eleven Committee
 34-A Operation
 Pentagon Papers
 McNamara's responsibilities
 Bombing escalation program (Vietnam)
 "White Paper"
 Rusk's views on Vietnam
 French Vietnam experience
 Honolulu Conference - 1966
 John McNaughton a "dove"
 Gullion episode - 1965
 Vietnam negotiation possibilities
 Stevenson-U Thant alleged initiative - 1964
 James Radvani
 Russian role
 Sturm initiative

“Pause” in Vietnam
Self-appointed peace makers
Peace initiatives

Under Secretary of State 1964-1966

- Vietnam escalation proposal
- Ball urges settlement move
- “Acheson” plan for political resolution of South Vietnam
- Resumption of bombing debate
- The “Wise Men” - SIG (Hard-liners)
- Clark Clifford urges ending war
- Misconceptions of Clifford’s views
- High-level OpCenter briefing (1968) on Vietnam
- “Dove” views shake President Johnson
- Johnson changes his views
- Debate over Paris is talk site
- US presses allies
- Johnson and de Gaulle
- Adenauer’s position
- MLF issue - 1965
- De Gaulle’s politics and motives
- De Gaulle as peace-maker
- De Gaulle and NATO
- Johnson on NATO and Europe
- East-West trade
- Germany reunification
- Disarmament-Johnson interest in
- Balance of payments issue
- Cyprus issue
- Ball negotiations in Turkey, Greece & Cyprus
- British and Europe
- Dominican Republic intervention -1965
- President Johnson “takes over” on intervention
- Abe Fortas negotiations
- Bundy-Vance mission
- Wm. Fulbright and Johnson
- Vietnam fatigue
- “Hands-on” President Johnson

Post-State Department - Involvement 1966-1968

- Six-Day War - Pueblo incident
- Hubert Humphrey campaign
- Johnson’s support for Humphrey