

AMBASSADOR JOHN O. BELL

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Background

- Agriculture Department messenger boy
- State Department Clerk
- Password Office
- Law School
- American mercenaries in Spain and missionaries in China
- Redesigning passports
- Division of International communications
- European refugees
- Negotiating International air agreement
- War College
- Military branches
- Negotiating Northern Atlantic Treaty

Interdepartmental Military Assistance Program 1949-1952

- Forming a budget
- Role of Cold War
- Dutch police action in Indo-China
- Secretary of State Acheson
- Burt Marshall, Chief of Staff, House Committee
- George Kennan
- Foreign Service oral exam

Economic Officer, Copenhagen 1952-1955

- Deputy Chief of Mission
- Mission Director
- Inspection and arguing orders
- Redefining foreign policy and State Department
- Denmark's relations with the U.S.
- Education in Denmark
- Attitude of European Foreign Service towards other branches

Interview 2

Ambassador to Pakistan 1955-1957

- Appointment
- State of post upon arrival
- Developing AID priorities and projects and increasing agricultural yields
- Prime Minister Suhrawardy
- Disagreement over agricultural policy
- Military progress and fear of India

Assistant Administrator for NESAs in ICA Changing NESAs' attitude Relations with Congress	1957-1958
Deputy for Foreign Aid Coordinator Planning Congressional representations Difference between AID and State personnel 1960 election Reorganizing aid Businessmen in AID Orville Freeman, Secretary of Agriculture Dough Dillon and Senator Fulbright	1958-1962
Ambassador to Guatemala Driving via Interamerican highway DMC Robert Corrigan U.S. policy toward Guatemala and Alliance for Progress Pretense of social and economic reform Different Guatemalan cultures U.D. corporations in Guatemala 1963 coup False reporting on coup Kennedy's trip to Latin America	1962-1965
Interview 3
Ambassador to Guatemala Interagency rivalry Embassy staff Influence in Washington PanAm-Guatemala Dispute Success of Alliance for Progress U.S. policy toward Latin America	1962-1965
POLAD, STRICOM, Florida History of STRICOM Cooperation among agencies State Department –military relations Traveling as POLAD General Conway	1965-1969
Retirement Career Foreign Service officers and career ministers Evaluation of career U.S. involvement in French Indo-China	