

AMBASSADOR ROBERT G. CLEVELAND

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Background
Family orientation toward international affairs
The Foreign Service Exam and the depression
International/ domestic positions with Chase Bank
Navy service in London during World War II
Appointment to Foreign Service
Bucharest	194-1848
Widow of the former American ambassador
Romania in 1946
Romanian Peace Treaty implementation
Soviet confiscation of American property
Adapting to diplomacy in a Soviet satellite
Anecdotes about life in Bucharest
Paris	1948-1952
Reason for transfer
Differences between small and large post
Central Rhine Commission
Origins of CoCOM
Impressions of Ambassadors
Crowd of Ambassadors in Paris
French Communist Party
Anecdotes about life in Paris
European Bureau at State	1952-1953
Sydney, Australia	1954-1956
Consul involved in economic matters
American business in Australia
Australian attitude toward America
Australian immigration policy
Bangkok	1956-1958
Structure of the economic section
Ambassador's relationship with the Prime Minister
Aid program for Thailand
Ambassador Alexis Johnson
Southeast Asian Office	1958-1963
Economics Coordinator for SE Asia

Monetary and economic reform in Laos
French role in Laos
Kennedy administration changes
Relations with Diem

Foreign Service Institute seminars on counterinsurgency

Belgrade

1963-1965

Origin of assignment
Economic Counselor and Director of AID mission
Disengaging AID mission from Yugoslavia
US public opposition to Tito
Tourism in Yugoslavia
Tito reaction to Kennedy assassination
George Kennan as ambassador

Conclusion

Director of Office of Public Services
Retirement and Meridian House International
Components of MHI
Involvement in DACOR Bacon House Foundation