

BERNARD FRANCIS COLEMAN

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Early Life - 1913

Growing Up in Washington, DC

Duke Ellington and Other Classmates and Friends

Family and Early Influences

Religion and Early Influences

Marriage to Jewel Cave

College – West Virginia State College

Ralph Bunche and Other Howard University Professors

Public School Teacher - 1937

Teaching Negro History and Working in Africa

US Navy Service, 1944-1945

Back to Teaching in Africa

Africa Experience Spurs Interest in Foreign Service Career

After State Turndown, USIA Opens Doors

Passes Foreign Service Exam and Sworn into Foreign Service (USIA)

First Foreign Service Assignment, Nigeria 1961

Ambassador Joseph Palmer - Lagos

Joe Palmer Pulls Barney Coleman into Embassy Lagos

Coleman Transfers to Tanzania 1964

Shares Assignment with Tom Pickering

Interest in African Art Collecting

Promoting US Policy through Personal Charisma

Coleman Expelled from Zanzibar

Frank Carlucci Also Expelled

Chinese Influence in Zanzibar

Rapport with National Leaders

Special Assistant to Assistant Secretary of State

Obstacles to Minority Foreign Service Recruitment

Improved Access to State for African Diplomatic Corps

First Black Diplomat Travels to South Africa 1967

Special Relationship with Chairman of Senate Foreign Affairs Committee (Senator Jessie Helms)

Relations with Key Members of the Congressional Black Caucus

Return to American and South African Interactions

Additional Obstacles to Minority Recruiting

Personal Recruiting Successes

Ambassador-In-Residence

Post Foreign Service Career in Academia

Civil Rights Activist