

HENRY DEARBORN

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Background
Born and raised in Massachusetts
Dartmouth College and Yale Law School
Foreign Policy Association
Entered the Foreign Service in 1941
Barranquilla, Columbia: Vice Consul	1941-1942
Mutiny
Environment
German influence
Manta, Ecuador: Principal Officer	1942-1944
Opening Consulate
Blacklisted firms
Environment
Operations
Industry
Living conditions
Guayaquil, Ecuador; Consular Officer (blacklist firms)	1944
Revolution
State Department; Ecuador Desk Officer	1944-1947
Seymour Island Base Rights
Spruille Braden
Braden/Messersmith feud
State Department: Argentine Desk Officer	1947-1952
State Department: Director, Office of South American Affairs	1952-1955
Argentina
Castro
FBI interest in Latin America
Legal Attachés
Peron
Rio Treaty
McCarthy
Argentina's nuclear energy project
Nazis in Argentina
Lima, Peru; Head of Political Section	1955-1958

Peru-Ecuador relations
Family
Politics
Attempted coup
Elections
US Ambassadors
US interests
Peru-Ecuador boundary dispute
National War College	1958-1959
Santa Domingo, Dominican Republic	1959-1961
Deputy Chief of Mission
Ambassador Joseph Farland
Situation under Trujillo
Catholic Church's role
Deteriorating US relations
Support for Trujillo in US
US and opposition forces
Break in relations
Acting as CIA station chief
Assassination of Trujillo
Emergency departure
President Balguer
Ramfis Trujillo
Trujillo's attempt to frighten US
Trujillo's torture methods
President Kennedy's secret (Robert Murphy) to Trujillo
Kennedy interest in DR regimes
Relations with CIA	1959-1961
Chargé d'affaires
CIA requests Dearborn to be link to DR opposition
In touch with pro-US dissidents
CIA chief arrives Jan. 1961
US and overthrow of Trujillo	1959- 1961
US moral support to dissidents
US support to Trujillo's opposition
Growing anti-US campaign of Trujillo
US opposes assassination
US agrees to supply arms to opposition
Several rifles given to opposition
Rockefeller commission to investigate CIA
Senate Select Committee on Intelligence Activities

Bogota, Colombia

1961-1967

- Deputy Chief of Mission
- Ambassador Fulton Freeman
- President Albert Heras Camargo
- Violence in countryside
- Monetary problems
- US interests in Colombia
- Relations with business community
- CIA operation
- Cuban missile crisis
- Harriman mission
- Ambassador Corry Oliver
- Dealing with Colombian government
- No drug problems
- Military attachés
- Reaction to previous US military intervention
- Comments on US ambassadors
- US AID mission – Alliance for Progress Peace Corps
- Traveling throughout Colombia

Mexico City, Mexico

1967-1969

- US relations with government
- CIA relations with government
- Mexican relations with Cuba
- Philip Agee and CIA
- LBJ's brother's problem
- Other agency activities
- Olympics in Mexico
- Mexican politics
- Illegal immigration
- Narcotics problem and border closure