

AMBASSADOR DOUGLAS MACARTHUR II

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Background
Navy childhood
Education
Foreign Service Exam
Career as a seaman
Vancouver, Canada	1935-1937
Duties at first post
Social functions of the Foreign Service
Training in political reporting
Naples, Italy	1937
Visa fraud
France	1937-1942
Embassy staff
French war preparedness
German refugees
Embassy to German invasion
Moving the French government
Black Forest	1942-1948
Detention
France	1944-1948
Liberation of Paris
Contacts with resistance groups
U.S relations with de Gaulle
Rise of NATO
General Eisenhower
Supporting General Weygand
Yalta conference
Russian support of French communist party
Liberating concentration camps
Negotiations with Russians
Brussels	1948-1949
Foreign Minister Henri Spock
Western European Division	1949-1951
European Defense Community

Relations between State and Defense Departments

Paris	1951-1953
Working for General Eisenhower
Greece and Turkey
German admission to NATO
Working with SHAPE staff
U.S relations with Russia
General Ridgeway
Organizing Secretary Dulles' trips
Counselor of the State Department	1953-1956
Duties and responsibilities
Four power meetings
Dealing with Minister Molotov
"Positive loyalty"
Secretary of State Dulles and Rusk
Foreign policy decision making
Decolonization
Establishing SEATO
Austrian treaty
Berlin Conference
San Francisco summit
Geneva summit of 1955
Suez Crisis
Hungarian revolt
U.S. attitudes towards Far East
Japan	1956-1961
Appointment and previous experience with Japan
Education, Research, and Development
Economic situation
Japanese import barriers
Prime Minister Kishi
Negotiating the Treaty of Mutual Cooperation and Security
Kishi's resignation and Eisenhower's visit
General MacArthur's legacy
Belgium	1961-1965
Political system
Belgian colonies
Belgium	1961-1965
Decolonization
Foreign Minister Spaak
Taking of hostages in Belgian Congo

Operation Red Dragon
Reactions to hostage rescue operation
Role of CIA

Congressional Relations 1965-1967

Appointment
Dealing with Congress
The need for military forces
Israeli lobby, Chinese lobby

Austria 1967-1969

History of Austrian politics
European Free Trade Association
Ethnic variations
Kurt Waldheim

Conclusion

Foreign Service as a career